SiteComments:

Two stone walled enclosures (each approximately 10 metres in diameter) situated adjacent to each other, in between large boulders. The height of the stone walls is 0.5 metres. Middens deposits were recorded in the open area in between the enclosures. A circular enclosures demarcated by upright stones ( approximately 2 metres in diameter) was recorded in the vicinity of the enclosures. if the large enclosures were used as cattle outposts, this smaller structure was probably a shelter used by the young boys looking after the cattle.
