

Archaeological Site Report	SiteNo	RCF005
	Site Name	Rocky Coast Farm 005
	Date	01/02/2008 - 00:00
	Project
	CaseNID
	Coords	-34.197758, 24.797100
Page No: 1 SiteAutoID: 93528

Site Category: Archaeological

SiteComments:

Current observation is a shell midden scatter, but is most probably part of a which may be covered by vegetation' importance - Appears to be a Generally Protected IVA site, but may become a site of local r Grade r o IIIB site. grading Significance must first be established by testing before any recommendations/trigher can be made (cunently low significance)' The site falls outside the footprint and is not directly under threat from the ProPosed development, but is indirectly under threat from the public' one would expect to The relatively flat area above site 3 and the demolished shack is an area where may cover sites' which shrubs frnd shell middens. The area, however, is covered with dense low of some 20 x 20 Immediately above site 4, next to the track to the shack, is a relatively large area No other food or metres with fragmented shell. The shellfish content is similar to site RCF/sm4. cultural remains were found.

Damage Types: