

Archaeological Site Report	SiteNo	9/2/436/0054
	Site Name	Butine House, 151 Pietermaritz Street,
	Date	Pietermaritzburg
	Project
	CaseNID
	Coords	-29.604324, 30.373785

Page No: 1      SiteAutoID: 26135

Site Category: Building

Directions:

Turn into Pietermaritz Street (oneway) from Chapel Street. House is on right a short way up and just

SiteComments:

Archive Import History: Visual Description: This imposing house is a double-storeyed building under corrugated iron roof with a rectangular turret room and pedimented side and front gables. The front facade is characterised by a fine balcony with original wrought-iron work of an elaborate late Victorian pattern. The front door is particularly fine with half-round glass panels in its face and glass panels on each side thereof. The ground floor sliding sashes are also of the best quality, one having moulded wooden columns. The house is further enhanced by plaster mouldings and rustication. Also noteworthy are the elaborate wrought iron fencing and gates surrounding the property. Colours: Site Features: Balustrade balcony; ornamental brackets; cast iron work Condition: good Construction Date: 1902 Materials: brick : corrugated iron Catalogue: Pmb, 1987, No: , Significance Category:

Damage Types: