Archive Import History: A reminder of the gabled houses which once lined Paarl streets. Visual Description: The gable is an early florid one, of 1784-, unornamented except for a fan and the date set on a ribbon. The house is H-shaped, with a similar but plainer gable at the back: it contains yellowwood doors which have been very well cared for, and, in the kitchen, a brandzolder, the lowest layer of which consists of reeds.
