

Department of Arts and Culture celebrated world book day by giving

Arista Annandale

Rooigrond: The importance of books and reading were again emphasised when the Department of Arts and Culture donated 593 books to Rooigrond Correctional Centre's library on Monday.

The event where the department launched a campaign called "In books I find" was part of their display for support of World Book day and the significance of reading.

"Today is not about speaking, it is about taking action", said Mandla Matyumza on behalf of Department of Arts and Culture. He further stated that the Department wanted to promote a culture of reading and writing.

"I encourage prisoners to start reading every day, as this will empower them to play a meaningful role in society", Matyumza said.

Alfred Tssetsane, Regional Commissioner of Limpopo, Mpumalanga and North West Correctional Services, received the books on behalf of the centre's library. "We need to promote reading across the board and these books will assist us in our quest to rehabilitate inmates through reading."

Many other stakeholders such as district mayor of Ditsobotla, Councillor Lesego Holele, CEO National Libraries of SA, Mr Tsebe and Andrea Dondolo, who is the face of the "In books I find" campaign, were present to share their love for books and also to demonstrate how books can improve people's standard of living.

Department of Arts and Culture, together with Department of Education identified schools in the Madibogo-pan area where books were also handed out. They also visited six houses in Motsitlane village as part of their door-to-door campaign.

Andrea Dondolo, the face of the "In books I find" campaign, Alfred Tssetsane, Regional Commissioner of Limpopo, Mpumalanga and North West, Librarian, Deputy Regional Commissioner, Mrs Csihleza and Barry Eksteen, Area Commissioner of the Rooigrond district at the book presentation function.
