Generally Protected site containing:	Structures 60 years +		Graves		Archaeological site Battlefield or rock art		Palaeontological material Meteor impact site

2. Historical/Military Significance:

According to Ros Devereux this could possibly be the oldest house in Howick. It is a typical early settler cottage

References Ros Devereux, Principal Heritage Officer: Built Environment- Amafa Institute

3. Architectural Significance:

Original date of construction:

Significance: The building is a typical early settler cottage in typology. The stone walls which are 600mm deep support this statement. The building is currently subdivided and alternations (and internal additions) to bathrooms were done in a manner which is not functional and not complimentary to the full potential of this old cottage. We would restore the original plan while improving the previous non-functional ablution addition
