IMBEWU SPORT

...go-slow in the implementation of some of our projects that are funded by the money that is received through the payment of services by residents, businesses, and the government. In the last financial year, our collection rate was 71 percent, and we need to have an average collection rate of around 80 percent or more if we are to better implement our projects. Domestic households owe a combined R 3,1 billion, businesses owe a combined R1,3 billion and government owe a combined R 65,3 million. From government departments, the biggest debt is by Public Works which owes R30,3 million. We have therefore been left with no option but to fully implement our Credit Control Policy to recover the over R4 billion debt that it is owed. I must however indicate that basic infrastructure maintenance has not been affected by the decision as a lot of work is done by our internal units and we are also able to implement projects that are funded through grants. Our finance directorate will be monitoring the situation and we are confident that it will improve as we fully implement our credit control policy. It is in this spirit that we want to urge those that owe the municipality to come forward and make payments or arrangements so that we can be in a healthier financial position. The biggest debtors have been identified and the process of issuing individual notices has begun. The Metro is calling on the debtors to pay and void operating in the dark as this will have serious implications and loss of revenue. We also want to announce that Council has taken a also intended at creating an attitude of non-payment amongst our consumers and strangely we do not know why people would want consumers not to pay for services in a manner that impacts negatively on the municipality. We, therefore, urge consumers to not believe the propaganda campaign that is led with sinister intention, and we request them to settle their accounts and do so on time. In the State of the City Address I made an indication that for us to implement our programme of development, we require residents and stakeholders to pay their accounts in time.

I want to once more appeal to your inner patriotic spirit – please settle your accounts and if you cannot settle them at once, we are willing to enter a payment arrangement with you. The financial health of our municipality depends on all of us – let us all do our part. Issued by the Executive Mayor of Buffalo City Metro Cllr Xola Pakati For arranging interviews with the Executive Mayor contact Luzuko Buku on 0832548463 resolution to offer our consumers a huge discount scheme that will offer massive incentives for those in debt. This offer allows those that are prepared to settle their accounts to get up to 50 percent discounts. There are also incentives for those who pay their current debt to be able to get into discount arrangements with the Municipality. The details of this debt incentive scheme are available on our social media platforms and in other relevant media platforms. It will be remiss of me not to reflect on the fact that there is a false narrative that is being peddled by some doomsayers that the municipality is in a state of financial disaster and these people have decided to believe their own lies and misinformation. It should seem that these lies are

SOCCKER HERO

Ex-footballer in a battle for survival

AVRIL FILLIES
Avril.Fillies@media24.com

In the mid-80s Faried de Goede, formerly from Kensington and now residing in Northpine, centre-back of the original Cape Town Spurs and Hellenic, was a big name in the soccer fraternity.
He is semi-paralyzed on his left side after a shot to his head while playing for the semi-professional team First National Rangers in 2011. He suffered a stroke and brain haemorrhage and every day is an uphill battle.

De Goede is battling to make ends meet and is dependent on his neighbours and friends to care for him.
"In Kensington, I started playing soccer for Luton Rovers as a 12-year-old. Two years later, at age 14 I joined Garden Village's u-14 team before I joined Norway Parks as a 17-year-old. I enjoyed my junior soccer days but as a 21-year-old Cape Town Spurs signed me to play professional soccer and was given the captain's armband. Hellenic wanted to buy me and in 1987 they bought me from Cape Town Spurs after I've been playing at Spurs for five years," he says.
His teammates at Hellenic were Mark Williams, Gavin Hunt and Taswald Huan.
"The highlight in my soccer career was not my call-up to sit on the bench for Bafana Bafana but when I was the Man of the Match against Kaizer Chiefs at Ellis Park and I received a cheque for R5 000. That was also the match where the late Reggie Jantjies scored and we played in front of a crowd of approximately 2 000 spectators.

"I played in a time when apartheid was rife and we experienced a lot of problems with the mixed team of Hellenic, consisting of whites and coloured players. George Hadjidakis, the owner of Hellenic, always believed that we were the best combinations in the Professional Soccer League, now known as the Premier Soccer League. Our downfall as a team was that we could not cross the final hurdle, and always fell short, whether it was in a quarter or semi-final," De Goede says.
Kaizer Chiefs were the pacesetters in the 80s and in 1985 they won every trophy.
"Locally, I admired Teenage Dladla, Ace Ntsoengole and Ace Khuse of Chiefs. All the years I was a Liverpool fan and admired John Barnes, but am now an Arsenal supporter.
"In 2011, my soccer career came to an end after a kick to my head. It was a freak accident that ended my career. I was part of the wall in the box to prevent a goal from being scored when the shot hit my head. I received medical attention on the field, but in the evening I felt my head and body were not functioning properly. I was admitted to hospital and back in Cape Town I was in Karl Bremer Hospital for three months and had to learn how to walk and use my left hand," he says.
He could not afford a physiotherapist and was helped by the University of the Western Cape (UWC).
He is now mobile but has given up his football coaching ambitions.
On a question about how Bafana Bafana can become a force in the world, he says the selection of players should change.
"As a selector, only the best players should start. Currently, Bafana consists of mostly black players from clubs like Chiefs, Pirates and Sundowns. Where are the coloureds and other white players in the country who are on par or better than the current crop? Ex-players should also be involved in selecting Bafana, I feel the team is too black and not representative of the talent we have in our country," De Goede says.
If you would like to assist him, call 021 981 3468.
