Abseilers lined up to help ring eagle

CHARNÉ KEMP

The team of dedicated volunteers and abseilers who recently assisted Ronelle Visagie of the Endangered Wildlife Trust (EWT) to ring a Verreaux's eagle on the cliffs outside De Aar, this year also had to use a kayak to cross the water-filled quarry on the side of the cliff.

Recent good rains had filled the two quarries. The last time it was full of water was after the floods in 1988. For the past years, during the drought, there was little water in these man-made quarries that were used to mine ballast for the railway lines in the area.

According to Visagie the abseiling and rescue team of De Aar has assisted her since 2009.

"They abseil to the nest on the cliffs to pick up the Verreaux's eagle chick for me to ring, and afterwards put it back safely into the nest. As far as we know, all the chicks have survived until they fledged and left the area.

"The leader of the abseil group, Tjaart van der Walt, always checks on the chick to ensure it is healthy until it leaves the breeding area.

"In the past, he has seen how the adults teach the chick to fly. He also once saw the adults catch a reedbeek lamb."

This year offered a different experience. The quarry was full of water after the good rains and the group had to implement new measures. It is estimated that the depth of the water may be about 30 m, as it is currently fed by an underground fountain.

"The area in and around the quarry is used for 4 X 4 driving, and many people go there for a picnic or braai. The eagles are used to people being in the area.

"To reach the other side of the quarry near the cliffside where the eagles' nest is, we used a small kayak. Cleon Lameyer rowed me over and brought all the other team members back when they were finished with the task. We wore safety jackets whilst in the boat and used two-way radios to communicate with each other."

As the cliff is very steep, the nest is not accessible without abseiling. The team uses rescue techniques, which means that everyone and everything is doubly secured and attached at two places.

Jonas Mthimunya is an experienced abseiler who also ensured the anchor ropes were secure.

The chick is put in a bag on ropes and lowered to Visagie, who weighs, measures and rings the chick before she puts it back in the bag. The abseilers then bring the bag back up, returns the chick to the nest and leave.

"Over the years many people have joined us on the ringing outing. It is always an amazing experience for others to see the chick and to listen to our conversations about the eagles and our experiences over the years.

"We used to publish it in the local newspaper, and from there it was shared with other newspapers and on the internet. We also have a WhatsApp group where we share the news about the eagles.

"After 14 years it is still worthwhile to share information about the eagles to make people aware of their responsibility towards nature," she says.

NOTIFICATION: ENVIRONMENTAL AUTHORISATION APPLICATION PROCESS.

In accordance with the requirements of Chapter 6 of the Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) Regulations (Government Notice R982 as amended, promulgated under the National Environmental Management Act 107 of 1998-NEMA), notice is herewith given of an application/s which will be subjected to a public participation process.

Eskom SOC Limited (hereafter referred to as the applicant) has appointed Environmental Impact Management Services (Pty) Ltd (EIMS) as the Environmental Assessment Practitioner (EAP) to assist with undertaking the required authorisation processes (including the statutory public participation), and to compile and submit the required documentation in support of application for:

- Environmental Authorisation (EA) in accordance with the NEMA-Listed activity: Listing Notice 3: Activity 12.
- General Authorisation registration in accordance with the National Water Act—NWA (Act 36 of 1998)—Section 21 Water Uses

Additional listed activities and/or water uses may be identified during the process.

Brief

Gemeenskapsorganisasies in die Namakwalandse dorp, Steinkopf, veg al van 2021 af vir meer polisiebeamptes en polisievoertuie vir die plaaslike polisie diens.

Gerold Engelbrecht, voorsitter van die Top 5-gemeenskapsorganisasie in Steinkopf, sê dis 'n skande om te sien dat die plaaslike polisie kantoor nie eens ordentlik op klagtes kan reageer nie.

Steinkopf het ongeveer 12 000 inwoners, en bestaan ook uit klein nedersettings soos Henkries en Goodhouse met ongeveer 400 inwoners, en ook die veeboergemeenskap wat bedien moet word.

Die SAPD Steinkopf is so sleg af met mannekrag dat daar slegs twee tot drie lede op 'n skof is.

Soms is hulle net twee aan diens, en dan moet die polisie kantoor gesluit word wanneer hulle 'n klagte gaan aanhoor.

Dit is een gemerkte polisiebakkie wat die gemeenskap moet bedien, terwyl die ander een nou al baie lank gebreek staan.

Wanneer die SAPD 'n klagte in Goodhouse gaan ondersoek, is die dorp sonder polisie van voertuie wat ander klagtes kan ondersoek.

Verskeie vergaderings met die Namakwa-distrikskantoor in Springbok het nog net op dowe ore geval.

Die gebiedsbevoelvoerder is al by verskeie vergaderings gevra om ten minste die Namakwa Openbare Orde Polisieëring of die Springbok K9-eenheid te ontplooi om die stasie by te staan.

Bendegeweld met pangas het ook nou in die dorp kop uitgesteek en inwoners word in die nag aangerand as hulle op straat is. Tot kinders by die skool word deur die pangabendes bedreig, en die plaaslike polisie kan nie 100% reageer nie, want hulle is slegs twee aan diens.

Baie kere bestaan die pangabende uit tien tot 30 lede.

Organisasies van die dorp het die LUR van veiligheid, vervoer en skakeling, so ook die polisie-unie Popcru, en die minister van polisie se kantoor, en selfs die adjunk- en president se kantoor vir hulp vir die plaaslike polisie kantoor genader.

'n Nuwe kaptein is na die kantoor gestuur, maar dit los steeds nie die probleem op van 'n tekort aan mannekrag of voertuie nie.

Baie kere moet gemeenskaplede wag totdat die polisiebakke van die hof in Springbok kom nadat dit verhoorafwagtinges daarheen geneem het, voor enige hulp van die polisie verkry kan word.

Die volgende is om die Menseregtekommissie te nader, want ons voel ons reg tot veilige polisieëring word geskend.

Of die ander opsie – ons maak die polisie kantoor se hekke met dik kettings toe.

Só kan dit nie aangaan nie, want jy moet bakhand staan om gedien en beskerm te word deur die plaaslike polisie diens.

Die grootkoppes van die SAPD weet wat aangaan, want hulle het polisiebeamptes na ander polisie kantore verplaas, maar nooit die gapings gevul nie.

Die Top 5-gemeenskapsorganisasie, STEINKOPF
