

Site Photographs

Source: Stead, 2016

Figure 1: View east from Photo 1 location of the existing farm road and telephone poles with the low hills in the background.

Figure 2: View south from Photo 2 location of the existing farm track and the vegetation that has been cleared as part of the centre-pivot irrigation system.

Figure 3: View north from Photo 3 of the sparse vegetation in the foreground with the Eskom power line located in the background.

Figure 4: View east from Photo 4 of the sparse vegetation and low hills in the background

Figure 5: View north from Photo 5 location of the very sparse vegetation and the low hills in the background

Figure 6: View northwest from Photo 6 location of the existing Eskom power line under which the proposed 132kV power line will be routed.

Figure 7: View north from Photo 7 location of the existing distribution line which the proposed 132kV power line will cross over.

Figure 8: View south from Photo 8 location of the N14 road and the existing telephone lines to the west of the road.

Figure 9: View west from Photo 9 location of the proposed 132kV power line crossing of the N14 with the Sishen Waste Rock Dumps located in the background.