

Specimen Details	Specimen Image
BP/1/4770 Protosuchus haughtoni, a nearly complete fossil skull	 A photograph of a fossil skull of Protosuchus haughtoni. The skull is reddish-brown and shows the basic outline of the snout and jaw. A metric ruler is placed above the skull for scale, showing it is approximately 10 cm long.
BP/1/2715 Clarencea gracilis, the anterior portion of a fossil skull	 A photograph of the anterior portion of a fossil skull of Clarencea gracilis. The fossil is light-colored and shows the snout and jaw area against a black background.
BP/1/7979 Orthosuchus stormbergi, a partial fossil jaw	 A photograph of a partial fossil jaw of Orthosuchus stormbergi. The jaw is light brown and shows the teeth. A 1 cm scale bar is visible at the bottom left.
BP/1/5290 Protosuchus haughtoni, a fossil skull	 A photograph of a fossil skull of Protosuchus haughtoni. The skull is reddish-brown and shows the basic outline of the snout and jaw. A metric ruler is placed above the skull for scale, showing it is approximately 10 cm long.
BP/1/5163 Rausuchian, isolated fossil teeth * image reference Rick Tolchard	 A photograph showing isolated fossil teeth of a Rausuchian. The teeth are arranged in a row (A) and shown in various views (B, C, D). A scale bar is present below the teeth. Labels A, B, C, and D indicate different views of the teeth. A label 'Dnt' is visible above the teeth in view C.

BP/1/8120 Raurisuchian, fossil jaw fragments * image reference Rick Tolchard	 A composite image showing several fossil jaw fragments. Fragment A is a long, narrow piece with a textured surface. Fragment B is a shorter, wider piece. Fragment C is a long, narrow piece similar to A. Fragment D consists of several small, irregular pieces. Each fragment has a small black scale bar below it.
BP/1/8713 Sphenosuchian crania fragments	 A photograph of a dark, irregular fossil fragment, likely a cranium, resting on a white surface. A ruler is visible at the bottom of the image for scale.
BP/1/8384 Aetosaur skull	 A photograph of a large, light-colored fossil skull fragment, likely an Aetosaur skull, showing a textured surface and a curved shape.