J.P. CELLIERS

To whom it may concern

Dear Sir/ Madam

On September 22 myself (J.P. Celliers, Archaeologist) and SAHRA official Mr Godfrey Tshivhalavhala visited the site identified during a scoping report by Mr JP Celliers. This report was submitted to and accepted by SAHRA Barberton office during August 2004. The survey was done on Portion 95 of the farm The Rest, 454 JT in Nelspruit extension 30.

A circular stone feature was identified during this report that may be connected to rectangular features nearby, uncertainty as to the possible historical value of this feature led to the consultation of a SAHRA official.

During the visit the SAHRA official (Mr Godfrey Tshivhalavhala) advised that the Archaeologist (JP Celliers) apply for a demolitions permit and be present during the commencement of construction activities especially where this feature is located. Should the destruction of this feature reveal material that may be of archaeological significance the activity will be halted by the Archaeologist and the SAHRA official immediately contacted.

Regards
JP Celliers
