

A site inspection was undertaken and it was clear that an archaeological assessment would not be required.

The bridge at Schweizer-Reneke across the Harts River is reportedly older than 60 years. It is planned to attach the pipeline to the bridge, to prevent excavations through the river.

The bridge would not be damaged / demolished, nor is it a proclaimed heritage site (which may require a permit for work to be done).