8. Biophysical Environment

8.1 Geology and Soils

Rocks are part of the volcano-sedimentary Karoo Supergroup. Most abundant in the area are the mafic volcanics (tholeiitic and olivine basalts and nephelinites) of the Letaba formation, then the mudstones of the Irrigasie Formation and the shale, with sandstone units, of the Eccca Group. Soils are red-yellow apedal, freely drained with high status and self-mulching, black, vertic clays (The Vegetation of South Africa, Lesotho and Swaziland, South African National Biodiversity Institute, Kirstenbosch, August 2006).

8.2 Vegetation and Landscape Features

The proposed development site falls within the Springbokvlakte Thornveld veld type. This veldtype is considered endangered.

The vegetation and landscape is described by Mucina and Rutherford (The Vegetation of South Africa, Lesotho and Swaziland, South African National Biodiversity Institute, Kirstenbosch, August 2006) as open to dense, low thorn savannah dominated by Acacia species or shrubby grassland with a very low shrub layer. Occurs on flat to slightly undulating plains.

8.3 Regional Climate

Summer rainfall with very dry winters. Mean Annual Precipitation of approximately 500-650mm. Frost fairly infrequent in winter. Mean monthly maximum and minimum temperatures range between 35.2°C and -2.0°C respectively, (The Vegetation of South Africa, Lesotho and Swaziland, South African National Biodiversity Institute, Kirstenbosch, August 2006), Mucina & Rutherford).

8.4 Hydrology

The site is not affected by any watercourses or wetlands. The Nkumpi River a tributary of the Olifants River, is situated approximately 300m to the east of the site.

9. Environmental Issues Identified

Potential environmental impacts will be identified for the construction and operational period. Environmental impacts will be identified and assessed in terms of their significance.

Potential construction impacts.

- Loss of vegetation;

- Air pollution: dust;
- Containment of litter and rubble during construction;
- Containment of litter and rubble during removal from site;
- Traffic impact of construction vehicles;
- Job creation during construction period;
- Safety & Security;
- Noise.

Potential operational impacts.

- Erosion
- Colonisation of disturbed areas by alien invasive plant species;
- Compatibility of development with surrounding land uses;
- Job creation during the operational phase;
- Surface and groundwater contamination;
- Risk of fires and explosion;
- Traffic safety;
- Noise

Management guidelines will be developed for these issues and incorporated in an Environmental Management Programme.

Interested and Affected Parties are welcome to comment on this list and provide additional anticipated issues and possible impacts which should be addressed.
