3. Architectural Significance:

Original date of construction: 1901

Significance: The house was designed and approved for building in 1901. The house was originally built as one unit, which was then later split into 2 individual houses.

The proposal is to restore the home to a single dwelling. The plan is a simple rectangular shaped, double storey building with a hipped roof. The first addition to the property was a domestic quarter separate from the main dwelling in 1937. External open parking bays were added to the front of the property in 2000 and 2002.

A domestic quarter and storgae area were added to the ground floor in 2003. The condition of the building is well maintained internally and externally.

D. WORK CARRIED OUT WITHOUT PRIOR APPROVAL

1. Purpose of Application:	Damage/destruction/demolition		Alterations/Additions	✓
Redecoration		Disfigured Written/drawn on	Excavation

Exhumation		Inundation		Development
Collection/Removal from original site		Trade/export (heritage objects)		Restricted use of equipment s40(5)
Consolidation/Subdivision		Amendment of Plan		Other

2. Existing Improvements made on site:

The existing improvements made on site include demolition of internal walls, to create a more open plan living, an existing window to be updated to a larger sized window in the master ensuite to allow for an unobstructed view of the ocean and the adjustment from 2 single garage doors to 1 double timber door, allowing for easier access when entering the garage.

3. Detail the work commenced/carried out

Internal alterations: Ground Floor:

- Walls separating the kitchen, dining, lounge and veranda are to be demolished to achieve an open plan layout.
- The existing staircase is to be demolished and a new stair is proposed within the centre of the house.

This location reduces the overall circulation within the house.

First Floor: Master bedroom en suite: a new window is added within the en-suite. The window is a large fixed glazing pane.

The primary purpose is to allow for abundance of natural lighting and to frame the view which overlooks the ocean.

External Alterations: Garage door: the existing 2 single garage doors are to be replaced with 1 double timber door for ease of access.

This door will tie in with the Victorian Cape Dutch aesthetic.

- A new awning is proposed to cover the existing braai area which will be used for entertaining.

4. Motivation for work (Please motivate fully why work was commenced without approval)

The current layout of the house has interleading rooms in the living area.

This does not suit the needs of the current family's lifestyle. The family, which consist of young parents and 4 young children require a large open plan layout with a visual link between the kitchen, dining, lounge and entertainment area.

This also improves the internal flow by reducing circulation and creating larger usable spaces.

Although internal alterations are proposed, the client would like to maintain the original external aesthetics as this was part of the appeal when purchasing this house. The internal changes do not affect the external aesthetics. All existing door and window positions remain as existing.
