Subject: Disposal off redundant equipment

Dear Mr. Kokela,

According to the experts the list of objects primarily consist of old computers and office furniture and therefore has no heritage value. The experts therefore felt that there is no need for them to view any of the items on your list and therefore you could continue with the disposal of such redundant equipment.

Kind Regards,

Lynn Abrahams

Dear Rayda

I trust that you are well and rested, ready to face the ups and downs of 2013.

Attached, is a list of objects that Robben Island Museum intends to dispose of. They have requested SAHRA assess whether there are any objects of heritage value that must be preserved. There are no descriptions of the objects and if necessary, I shall gladly request such.

Please review and advise whether a visit to view the objects would be necessary as well as whether we should request descriptions of some of the objects. Any other advice would be appreciated. Lynn Abrahams, copied into this e-mail, has been employed in our office and she will be dealing with this matter.

We look forward to your guidance

Regards

Regina

Dear Mr. Kokela

Mr. Dumisani Sibayi has forwarded your email to the Heritage Objects Unit and thank you very much for consulting SAHRA in this regard. You are correct when you say officials from SAHRA should be engaged when embarking on the above mentioned process. It is phenomenal to know that the redundant furniture and equipment has been clearly identified and isolated from working equipment which will make it easy for us to start the process.

The process that will follow now is that SAHRA will have to assess the redundant objects and see their heritage significance. This coming Friday our Office will give you a call so that we can discuss about a date that would be suitable to come to the Island and view the objects with experts that would be identified by SAHRA, kindly furnish me with your contact number.

In the meantime you can forward me a list of the redundant furniture as well as the equipment you have referred to so that I can know exactly what is it we will be dealing with there. I am saying this because furniture is diverse and at this stage it is also not clear on your email that what kind of equipment you are referring upon.

Lastly I would like to know what kind of 'disposal' you talking about, this will enable us to keep proper records as to what will be happening exactly.

Please do not hesitate to come back to me should you need any clarity in this regard.

I trust that you find this in order.

Kind regards
