Tertiary calcrete and sands that do not contain fossils but might cover fossils trapped in pans or springs. Gordonia Formation sands overly these rocks that may contain recent Quaternary fossils in pan or spring deposits. A Chance Fossil Finds Procedure is recommended and provided in the report.

Van der Walt, J. 2020. Heritage Impact Assessment Karroid PV Project, Upington, Northern Cape Province.

A total of two heritage resources including a historical artefact scatter and an Early Stone Age site were identified. The ESA site was rated as a heritage resource of medium significance. Isolated surface scatters of Middle Stone Age and Later Stone Age lithics were also identified as noted in Table 8. The historical artefact scatter and isolated Stone Age scatters were rated as having a low significance rating.

The recommendations provided in the HIA include the following:

- Surface sampling and analysis of artefacts are recommended at Waypoint 113 (ESA Site) to ensure that the technology is adequately described;
- Development of a heritage management plan for the entire Geel Kop Farm RE456 prior to construction;
- Implementation of a chance find procedure for both the archaeological and palaeontological components.
