This historical archaeological research project focuses on Botshabelo, a nineteenth century Berlin Missionary Society station situated outside Middelburg, Mpumalanga.

Dear Dr Swanepoel,

the SAHRA Archaeology, Palaeontology, Meteorites, Heritage Objects and Burials permit committee has received your application requesting a permit for the excavation of the Berlin Missionary Society mission station at the site of Botshabelo.

SAHRA understands that this excavation will be part of the archaeological field school for students of the University of South Africa. While the 2013 season will mostly involve test excavations at identified sites, full excavation, based on the results of the 2013 test excavations, will only be undertaken in 2014 and 2015.

We wish you every success with this project.

Should you have any further queries, please contact the designated official using the case number quoted above in the case header.

Yours faithfully
