1 Executive Summary

No archaeological material was found in the area where development is to take place. The likelihood that archaeological remains will be uncovered during development is extremely low and no mitigation is recommended.

2. Brief and Location

A phase 1 archaeological study of Erven 4001, 4002 and 870, Elsie's River was requested by Mr P de Jongh of E-4 Developers cc, 14 Herbert Street, Oakdale, 021 948 3333 (tel), 021 948 3888 (fax). These erven are situated on Forest Drive (Figure 1) and will be developed as part of a low cost housing project. The area was investigated for archaeological heritage resources that are protected in terms of the National Heritage Resources Act No. 25 of 1999 (See no.6).

3. Method

The property was visited on 26 April 2004. An on foot survey was undertaken and global positioning was undertaken using a Garmin GPS e-trex (map datum WGS84) with an accuracy of 4 meters. Photographs were taken with a Cannon Powershot A400 camera.

4. Description of the Property

The property is situated in a residential area where extensive development has taken place. The area is underlain by sands and no natural dunes remain. The erven are covered with grass (Figure 2-4), as well as pine and eucalyptus trees on erven 870 and 4001. The southwest corner of erf 870 ($\pm 34^{\circ} 00.278' S$ $18^{\circ} 43.019'$) is covered in Port Jackson trees (Figure 3). There is an occupied dwelling on erf 870 (Figure 4), and in addition, several footpaths are used by the residents of the area. These factors result in very poor ground visibility.

5. Results and recommendations

No archaeological resources were located in the study area. Should the developers encounter any in situ archaeological material during development, an ASAPA (Association of Southern African Professional Archaeologists) accredited archaeologist should be contacted to monitor the situation. In terms of the requirements of section 38 of the South African Heritage Resources Act (1999), there is no need for further archaeological investigation or for the developer to obtain a destruction permit from the South African Heritage Resources Agency (SAHRA) or the provincial heritage authority, Heritage Western Cape (HWC).
