

APPENDIX 3: PHOTOGRAPHIC DOCUMENTATION OF SCHERP ARABIE

Fig. 1: The northern boundary fence of the property (facing east). The section in the foreground has been disturbed by cultivation.

Fig. 2: The northern section (north of the cultivated area), was recently burnt which made visibility good.

Fig. 3: The north-eastern section of the study area (north of the cultivated area).

Fig. 4: The cultivated section facing north.

Fig. 5: The cultivated section facing south.

Fig. 6: The cultivated section in the north-east.

Fig. 7: The middle section of the study area (towards the western boundary).

Fig. 8: The middle section of the study area.

Fig. 9: The southern section of the study area, near the middle of the property.

Fig. 10: Some sections in the south were dry and open.

Fig. 11: Some sections in the south were covered with short grassland vegetation.

Fig. 12: Another view of the southern section.

Fig. 13: Burial site 1 consisted of two graves belonging to the Sebothoma family.

Fig. 14: Burial site 2 consisted of two graves which were approximately 15m apart (see arrow indicating the second grave).

Fig. 15: Burial site 2: The first grave: Ramatsobane Mmatema.

Fig. 16: Burial site 2: The second grave: Mmangakane Mmatema.

Fig. 17: Burial site 3: The single unnamed grave is located within the cultivated area.

Fig. 18: Burial site 3: The unnamed grave is demarcated with a metal frame and cross.

Fig. 19: A stone structure (house) was observed south of the cultivated area (dating between 1900 & 1940).

Fig. 20: The stone-&-mud structure is older than 60 years.

Fig. 21: A stone foundation (recent) was observed within the northern road next to the boundary fence.

Fig. 22: The rest of the indistinct foundation was situated just off the gravel road (recent).

Fig. 23: A concrete water trough (recent), was situated near the northern entrance to the property, north of the cultivated section.

Fig. 24: A dam was established south of the cultivated section.