1. INTRODUCTION

PGS Heritage was contracted by HL Hall & Sons (Pty) Ltd to investigate the location and relocate, by means of an archaeological excavation, eight graves that were situated in Family Plot 13 of the Old Bosch Street Cemetery. These graves belong to the founder of the company and his wife and include some of their children and relations. The company turns 125 years this year and the family wanted to relocate the old family grave plot in the cemetery to the newly developed Heritage Park, which will display various aspects of the company's and family's heritage. The excavation subsequently revealed the presence of 4 sets of human remains, which were exhumed and re-interred on 25 August 2015 in the Heritage Park situated on Portion 219 of Erf 2, Mataffin Macadamia Township.

2. SOCIAL CONSULTATION

The affected family initiated the proposal for relocation. Notwithstanding this fact, site notices (Appendix B) and newspaper notices (Appendix C) were published, to inform and identify any other bona fide interested and affected parties.

This process was started with the placement of bilingual (English and SiSwati) site notices at the gravesite on 7 May 2015. Subsequently, newspaper notices were published in the Lowvelder newspaper on two occasions (8 and 15 May 2015).

Until the date of exhumation, no other interested and affected parties have contacted either the Hall family or PGS Heritage (Pty) Ltd regarding the proposed relocation of the graves.

3. LEGAL COMPLIANCE

Exhumation and re-interment of human remains in Mpumalanga is governed by the Mpumalanga Cemeteries, Crematoria and Exhumation of Bodies Act, 2005 and the National Health Act, 2003. The graves and mortal remains of victims of conflict and graves older than 60 years in a burial ground not administered by a local authority, as well as all graves older than 100 years, are also subject to the stipulations of the National Heritage Resources Act (Act 25 of 1999). All local laws and by-laws regarding cemeteries were also adhered to.

In order to comply with the above, permissions to exhume and re-inter the human remains and associated grave dressings and cultural remains were obtained from the following responsible authorities (refer Appendix E for copies):

- South African Heritage Resources Agency (SAHRA). Permit No 2071 (CaseID: 8076) was issued in this regard.
- The Mpumalanga Department of Health. Local Health officials attended the exhumation proceedings.
- The Mbombela Local Municipality.
- The Office of the Station Commissioner of the South African Police Services in Nelspruit was informed of the date of exhumation seven days before the exhumation took place. Members of the SAPS attended the exhumation proceedings as required by the relevant legislation.
- A registered funeral undertaker (Martins Funerals) conducted the handling and reburial of the exhumed remains as required by the relevant regulations.

4. METHODOLOGY

4.1 Method of excavation

The methods employed during exhumation aimed to recover all the remains, to minimise damage to the remains, to record the three-dimensional context of the remains and to preserve and respect the dignity of the buried individual. All evidence that might allude to the events leading to the death of the individual and circumstances regarding the event were recorded and interpreted.

The excavation methods employed accomplished the in situ exposure of the burial and associated artefacts (Nienaber and Steyn, 1999). The focus was on accurate and complete documentation (Nienaber, 1997). Various methods for the excavation of graves have been proposed by different authors (Hester, 1975; Joukowsky, 1980; Krogman and Iscan, 1986; Morse, 1978) and all stress the need for adequate workspace around the exposed remains and a systematic approach to the removal of individual bones. The archaeological method, including extensive test trenching to prevent damage to the remains, was employed. This approach was largely similar to that of forensic archaeology where buried body cases are concerned. The approach was adapted for each situation since graves vary in shape, size, depth and content (Nienaber, 1999). The methods used in forensic archaeology are discussed by Steyn, et.al. (2000).

In each case, the surface features of the grave were cleaned and documented. Hereafter any cultural material associated with the surface dressing was collected and catalogued, if such occurred. All observations regarding construction, materials and characteristics of the surface features were documented.

After the removal of the surface features, the extent of the burial pit was ascertained through excavation and observation of differences in the matrix. After the indications of the presence and characteristics of the burial pit were documented, the in-fill was excavated to expose the human remains and associated cultural materials. Removal of the matrix of the burial pit was accomplished through the test-trench approach, whereby a narrow trench (25-30 cm wide) is excavated with a trowel to a depth of between 15 and 20 cm in the lower third of the burial pit (in this instance the lower third usually constituted the eastern side of the grave). This area is chosen since it is most likely that the femurs of the skeleton occur in this part of the grave. Since the femur is a robust bone, it is usually not easily damaged through excavation. If no indications of the presence of human remains were observed in the test trench, the remaining in-fill matrix, down to the depth of the test trench, was removed with a shovel. The matrix surrounding the remains was carefully screened to retrieve any possible cultural artefacts associated with the burial. This process was repeated until indications of the presence of human remains were observed.

As soon as human remains were encountered, care was taken to leave as much of the skeleton as possible covered in order to protect the remains from damage by excavation and to preserve the integrity of the context of the skeletal elements and possible associated cultural remains. The extent and characteristics of the burial pit were now documented and the workspace was assessed and enlarged if not sufficient. This was only done after documentation of the features of the burial pit and without sacrificing any vital information.

The excavation then continued with the aim of ascertaining the extent of the skeletal remains and the location of the different skeletal elements, after which the remains were uncovered, starting from the middle and working outwards. This method again ensures the minimum disturbance of the remains and associated cultural materials. As soon as the skeleton was uncovered, it was documented in situ and removed. A further test trench of 15 cm deep was dug in the area directly underlying the location of the remains to ensure that all possible remains and artefacts were found and recovered.

5. EXHUMATION OF REMAINS AND DETAILS OF DECEASED.

5.1 General discussion

The graves were located in Family Plot 13 of the Old Bosch Street Cemetery, Nelspruit, Mbombela Local Municipality, Mpumalanga at S25°27.743' E030°58.772'.

The family representative confirmed on the day of the exhumation that only five of the possible eight family members were buried in Plot 13 of the Bosch Street Cemetery. The exact location for each of the confirmed burials was however unknown. The investigating/exhumation team identified four possible graves next to each other within the extent of the indicated Plot 13 of the cemetery. The four possible graves were numbered Hall 01 up to Hall 04 from left to right or from the south to the north. These four possible graves were investigated and the remains within were exhumed.

The grave with the surface number Hall 01 contained the remains of David Donaldson Hall and the remains were subsequently numbered Hall 05 as it was numbered in the grave register provided by the family.

The grave with the surface number Hall 02 proved to be no grave and did not contain any human remains.

The grave with the surface number Hall 03 contained the remains of Grace Husband Hall and the remains were subsequently numbered Hall 02 as it was numbered in the grave register provided by the family. Grace Husband Hall was buried on top of her son Lanion James Hall and his remains were numbered Hall 03 as it was numbered in the grave register provided by the family.

The grave with the surface number Hall 04 contained the remains of Hugh Lanion Hall and the remains were subsequently numbered Hall 01 as it was numbered in the grave register provided by the family.

The remains of the fifth deceased, Kathleen Forest Hall (Hall 07), were not found within the extent of the burial plot on the day of the exhumation. The family representative, after consultation with other family members and family friends confirmed the following day that Kathleen Forest Hall was in fact cremated in Pretoria and that she was not buried in Plot 13 of the Bosch Street cemetery. A memorial service was held at the family burial plot in her honour, but she was not buried there.

The excavation subsequently revealed the presence of 4 sets of human remains, which were exhumed and re-interred on 25 August 2015 in Portion 219 of Erf 2, Heritage Park, Mataffin Macadamia Township.

6. CONCLUSION

During the relocation process, human remains from four graves were relocated on 25 August 2015 from Family Plot 13 of the Old Bosch Street Cemetery in Nelspruit, Mpumalanga. The overall preservation of the excavated human remains was fair to poor. The disinterred remains were reburied in the Portion 219 of Erf 2 in Heritage Park, Mataffin Macadamia Township. The next-of-kin of four of the graves were present at the exhumation and reinterment of the remains.

PROJECT INFORMATION

In this case it was the affected family which initiated the proposal for relocation. Notwithstanding this fact, site notices and newspaper notices were published, to inform and identify any other bona fide interested and affected parties. This process started with the erection of bilingual (English and Siswati) site notices at the grave sites on 7 May 2013 (refer Annexure B for site notice copy and photographs). Subsequently, newspaper notices were published in the Lowvelder newspaper (8 and 15 May 2015). Refer Annexure C for copies of the newspaper notices.

To date, no other I&APs have contacted either the Halls family or PGS Heritage regarding the proposed relocation of the graves.

To clarify matters we have allocated the affected graves to the following categories:
